MYSTERY NO LONGER

The Ft. Thomas Murder Problem Finally Solved.

THE MURDERERS UNDER ARREST.

Three Men Implicated in the Diabolical Deed—Two of Them Have Made a Partial Confession—The Victim Was Miss Pearl Bryan, a Farmer's Daughter, From Near Greencastle, Indiana.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The mystery surrounding the finding of the body of a young woman, evidently murdered, and with the head cut off, near Fort Thomas, Ky., a few miles from this city, last Saturday, has been solved and her murderers have been arrested. One is held as principal of the diabolical crime, another as his accomplice and a third on suspicion of having guilty knowledge of its commission.

The main suspect is Scott Jackson, a student in dental surgery from Greencastle, Ind.; his supposed accomplice is William Wood of Greencastle, Ind., a friend of his, who was arrested at South Bend, Ind., and the third is Alonzo Walling, another dental student who has been rooming with Jackson.

The young woman whose headless trunk lies in a Newport undertaking establishment has been identified as Pearl Bryan, the daughter of a stock-raiser and dairyman at Greencastle, Ind. Up to Wednesday, when they were thrilled with horror by the awful intelligence of how their daughter met death. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan believed her to be in this city, in the full enjoyment of health, spending a pleasant visit with friends.

Detectives were sent to Greencastle to obtain what information they could liable to lead to the identity of the murdered girl. The only and main clew they had was the stamp of Louis & Hays, the shoe dealers, in the shoes worn by the murdered girl. They took all of the apparel worn by the girl, even including the small articles of underwear, with them for identification.

Their success was beyond their most sanguine expectations. They not only succeeded in having all of the clothes identified beyond doubt by the mother of the murdered girl and others, but by some shrewd work, in an incredibly short space of time, learned everything about her antecedents that could possibly be discovered who would be interested in her removal.

The detectives learned that Scott Jackson is said to have betrayed the girl last September, while he was in the office of Dentist Gillespie at Greencastle. He came to Cincinnati early in October and is said to have written letters to William Wood, a relation of the girl, telling of arrangements he had made to have a criminal operation performed on her in this city, and it is presumed that she came here for that purpose. Jackson, Wood and Miss Bryan moved in the best society in Greencastle.

The only thing remaining after this was to follow the movements of the parties under suspicion, locate them and cause their arrest. The good work of the detectives and Sheriff Plummer in accomplishing this purpose resulted in a speedy apprehension of all three parties.

Jackson was first arrested in this city and put through the usual course of questioning. He acknowledged that he knew the girl and had called on her at her home in Greencastle, but denied having seen her in this city.

Alonzo Walling, Jackson's roommate, was then arrested and after being questioned made a confession. Walling said that on Jan. 29 Pearl Bryan came over from Greencastle. She was taken to the Indiana House and registered, being assigned to Room 114. Jackson and Walling met that day at Fourth and Race streets and they discussed the advisability of performing an operation on the girl. Wood was said to have been the cause of the girl being in a delicate condition. They discussed the matter of an abortion on several occasions, but failed to arrive at a decision.

On Friday night, so Walling confessed, Jackson went out and did not return until midnight. On Saturday Walling called Jackson's attention to the reports of the murder, and asked him: "What does this mean?" Jackson hesitated, stammered, and then replied in a rather shaking voice: "Oh, they can't find her head, so there is no means of identification." When the matter of the shoes was mentioned to Jackson, he said: "D—n those shoes. They may cause trouble."

On Monday and Tuesday, when matters at the Greencastle end of the mystery became dimmer, Jackson appeared to be more quiet, and said: "They're getting off the track all right."

Wednesday, when there was renewed interest in the Greencastle story, Jackson swore at the clothes and the shoes, and remarked that the officers were getting close to home in their discoveries and that they (the clothes and shoes) were leading to the identification of the woman.

Jackson when confronted with this evidence of his guilt made a partial confession, but tried to throw the crime onto Walling. Jackson said that he knew about the girl coming to the city on the 29th. He knew Walling had seen her, and that he (Walling) was to perform a criminal operation. He knew Walling had met her, that the abortion had been performed. He charged that Walling committed the crime under which she died.

Jackson made his confession by small installments. He is still obstinate, and made the statements because he saw the clouds of evidence gathering around him. Not a word of the details of the crime has he yet spoken. While he admits that the girl was murdered, he maintains that a third person committed the crime.

Walling then prepared a statement in which he said that Scott Jackson had told him about his trouble with Pearl Bryan, and in which he said William Wood was also interested. Jackson never referred to anything except the proposed abortion until Pearl Bryan came to this city Jan. 29. Then he talked about the serious condition, and consulted with druggists and fellow students about the best drugs with which to kill. Jackson got drunk a night or two after Pearl came here, and told his roommate that he proposed to get away with her. He had several plans which he outlined. One was to take her to a room and kill her with drugs and leave her as if she had suicided. Another plan was to kill her with the drug, cut up the body and drop it in vaults, unless he got a good opportunity to cremate it at the furnace in the dental college. His third plan was with acids, which Walling explained at length.

Walling denied that he was with Jackson and Pearl Bryan in the cab last Friday night before the murder was committed. A colored porter and a barkeeper who saw the hack drive away from their saloon testified that Walling got in the hack with them. Walling insisted that the last time he saw Pearl Bryan was last Wednesday night, but that he did see Jackson on Thursday and Friday nights and that Jackson went to their room and put on part of Walling's clothes in order to throw suspicion and blame from himself on to his roommate.

In Jackson's statement he accounted for the blood on his clothes by saying that Walling had gone to their room and put on his clothes before going out to commit the murder.

Walling says that Jackson told him on Thursday night he intended to drive over to Pearl Thomas with the girl and get rid of her and that he did so on Friday night.

During the time that Walling made his confession, Scott Jackson was present and heard it all and denied everything as his roommate proceeded with the story. They called each other liars and were with difficulty prevented from creating disturbance. Meantime a large crowd surrounded the place and both the men expressed their apprehension for their safety. They are not anxious to be taken to Newport, Ky., for trial, but as soon as the preliminary examination is cleared up requisition papers will be issued and the prisoners will be turned over to Sheriff Plummer of Newport, Ky., just opposite this city. The feeling, however, is as strong on this side of the river as it is on the Kentucky side against the men who are believed to be guilty of the most brutal murder that has ever been committed in this locality.

Jackson's valise was found in a saloon just opposite the city hall. It was horribly besmeared with dried blood. Kugel, the saloonkeeper, said that Jackson left it there Friday night.

The search for the head of the murdered woman still goes on, but it is believed that Jackson and Walling are the only ones who know where it could be found, and some are of the opinion that Jackson is the only one who could solve this part of the mystery.

William Wood was brought here last night from South Bend, Ind. Wood is not yet of age, bright looking, with florid face cleanly shaved, light hair and finely dressed. His conversation showed him to be more advanced in the ways of the world than usual at the age of 21. He was accompanied by his father, Rev. D. M. Wood, presiding elder of the Methodist church in the district where he resides at Greencastle, Ind.; Rev. A. A. Gee, pastor of the Methodist church at South Bend, Ind.; A. N. Grant, attorney of Indianapolis, who is the counsel of Wood, and A. R. Colburn, a lumber merchant of Michigan City, who came to go on the bond of young Wood. Although a warrant had been issued charging Wood with aiding and abetting an abortion, yet he was held on suspicion without bond.

Wood was examined at length. The prisoner said this was the first time he ever visited Cincinnati and insisted that he had never been here to confer with Jackson, Walling or anyone else. He said he had never been outside of Indiana except for one trip to Chicago. He was questioned very closely about the letters from him that had been captured with the affects of Scott Jackson in the latter's room. Those letters are very obscene and refer specifically to the proposed abortion on Pearl Bryan. Wood said he was a distant relative of the girl and was doing everything in his power to help hide her condition and get her out of trouble. In these letters Wood referred to matters which the officers considered as implicating him in the tragedy, but he denied all knowledge of anything that was ever proposed except the abortion. In these letters Scott Jackson told Wood that Walling, his roommate, had a friend who was an expert chemist and who would take charge of the operation. It turns out that Jackson was referring to himself, so Wood and Walling claim, as the expert chemist as well as the surgeon.

There is no doubt that Jackson was the principal, and that William Wood, arrested at South Bend, Ind., is deeply implicated. Abundant letters from Wood to Jackson bear out this part of Jackson's confession. Nearly all of Wood's letters are about girls, and some of them are grossly indecent.

Coroner Tingley of Newport thinks that the girl undoubtedly died while under the influence of an anesthetic while they were preparing to perform an operation upon her, but that no operation had been performed. The other three physicians who made the examination of the body all agree with the coroner that no criminal operation had been performed.

FIGHT IN A SALOON.

Three Men Killed and Five Others Seriously Wounded.

WHITING, Ind., Feb. 7.—In a saloon fight which occurred here yesterday afternoon, three men were killed and five others seriously wounded.

The dead are: John Mokin, shot through the head. Stephen Mulcha, shot in right temple. Emory Sanjo, shot through the breast.

The seriously wounded are: Jacob Gladstone, cigar manufacturer, Chicago, shot in breast.

John Thomas, foreman for Standard Oil company, shot in right side; will die.

Peter Nagz, seriously injured about head and shoulders.

Garbor Fleeve, head badly cut by falling glass; will recover.

A traveling man in the saloon at the time had a narrow escape, a bullet going through his coat.

Opinions differ as to the cause of the fatal fight. One man says it was a race war, the saloonkeeper being a Slav, while most of his customers are Hungarians and Poles.

The people of the town are much excited over the shooting and more trouble is looked for, as it is rumored that an uprising of the murdered men's friends may occur at any moment.

Four men are under arrest as participants in the shooting. The officers who made the arrests had a hard time to get their men, as the murderers had barricaded themselves in the saloon. As the men would not surrender, the officers broke down the door and with much difficulty secured them.

Same Old Result.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 7.—The house preliminaries preceding the ballot for senator were not characterized by the stormy proceedings that were anticipated. The rollcall showed 136 present, 69 being necessary to a choice. Senator Weisinger and Representatives Carroll and Violet, sound money Democrats, voted for Carlisle. Speight, Walker and White voted for McCreary. Populist Poor voted for Bate. White's vote was a break in the Blackburn column. The ballot stood: Hunter, 67; Blackburn, 67; scattering, 7.

Those G. A. R. Rates Again.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—A special meeting of the Western Passenger association has been called for Feb. 11. The object of the meeting will be to take some action regarding the extension of the time limit on the tickets to the encampment of the G. A. R. at St. Paul by the Great Western road. It is not likely that any decisive action will be taken at the meeting, but the roads will decide upon what course they intend to pursue at a later date.

May Settle the Boundary Dispute.

COLON, Colombia, Feb. 7.—Advices received here from British Guiana say that Sir Augustus William Lawson Hemming, the new governor of the colony, is coming with orders to open friendly negotiations with Venezuela regarding the settlement of the boundary dispute, after the resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Venezuela shall have been effected through the good offices of a friendly power.

St. Louis Firm Fails.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—The Excelsior Manufacturing company, a large stove making concern of which Giles F. Filley, Sr., is president, made an assignment late yesterday afternoon. Several years of bad business and a lack of ready money lead to this step, but an effort will be made to reorganize the company. The amount of liabilities is not known at present, but the assets are large, including $280,000 worth of stock on hand.

Another Victim of the Panhandle Wreck.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—John Torrence, the oldest railway mail clerk in the country, who was injured in the Panhandle wreck near South Charleston, O., on Jan. 22, died at his home in this city yesterday from his injuries. He was 67 years old, and leaves a widow and four children.

Mr. English Very Low.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—The condition of William H. English is critical. The most serious complication in his case is that his heart is greatly affected. Mr. English has had several long lapses into unconsciousness. His daughter, Mrs. Walling, is constantly by his bedside.

A Landmark Removed.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., Feb. 7.—The old wooden bridge over White river, near this place, has at last been torn away, a modern iron structure taking its place. The bridge was a relic of pioneer days, and it served as a landmark.

John Hayes Hammond Released on Bail.

PRETORIA, Feb. 7.—John Hayes Hammond, the American mining engineer, charged with the leadership of the late uprising in Johannesburg, was liberated on bail yesterday.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7.—General John Gibbon, the famous Indian fighter, died at his home in this city last night at the age of 68. His death was caused by pneumonia.

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST.

Workmen Hurled Into an Icy River by the Collapse of a Bridge.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 7.—A bridge on the New England railroad over the Pequabuck river near Bristol, collapsed about 9 o'clock last night, carrying with it 20 workmen, of which 13 are believed to have perished. Among the dead is John O'Brien, foreman, of East Hartford. The names of the missing are unknown.

The fierce storm which swept over the state yesterday afternoon played havoc with New England railroad bridges and the swollen waters of the Pequabuck river threatened to carry the bridge away. At 5 o'clock a special wrecking train with 40 men left East Hartford and were put to work on the new bridge which the company is building over the river and which is almost completed. It was intended to put the new bridge in shape at once so that trains could cross the river. The old bridge was declared unsafe and 20 workmen were put to work on each bridge.

About 5 o'clock one of the foremen, John Barry, called the 20 men on the old structure toward the center to assist in tearing up the ties which were wanted for the other bridge. The weight of the men was too great for the bridge and hardly without a moment's warning it collapsed with a loud noise, precipitating 16 or 17 of the men into the raging waters of the river. Three or four were caught by falling timbers and seriously injured. Three managed to cling to fragments of the bridge and were rescued by a number of their comrades, who rushed over from the new bridge as soon as they learned the extent of the disaster.

The tottering condition of the remaining portions of the old bridge rendered the work of reaching the men impossible and had a boat been available nothing could have held it against the mad rush of the waters. The unfortunate men in the water attempted to seize sticks and portions of the abutments which had broken loose, but not more than five or six were successful. The others were carried down stream and were quickly lost to sight in the darkness.

Two men were able to swim ashore, but fell exhausted as soon as they reached land. John Barry, foreman in charge of the old bridge, was extricated from the mass of wreckage and debris which collected where the bridge gave way, and was found to be badly wounded. He and the other rescued men were taken to a farm house near by and cared for. The foreman was unable to give the name of the men who were on the bridge with him at the time.

As soon as the railroad officials were notified of the collapse a special train was sent out from East Hartford with two surgeons and another gang of wreckers. A gang of 20 men rigged impromptu rafts and scows and began a search for the bodies. Others were sent down both sides of the river to see if anyone had been fortunate enough to reach the shore. No more bodies were found and it was the general opinion that the men had no chance of reaching the shore alive.

Most of the men live in Hartford and East Hartford and nearly all have families.

TWO KILLED AND TWO INJURED.

A Condemned Three-Story Building Collapses in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 7.—Two men were killed and two injured yesterday by the fall of a building in Third avenue, this city. The building was condemned nearly a year ago. It was a 3-story brick, 50 by 125 feet, and was owned by the H. W. Johns Manufacturing company. The upper floors were vacant, but the first floor was rented by James Quigley, who used it as a cooperage shop. Quigley usually had 10 men at work in his shop, but yesterday there were only himself and three others.

The dead are: James Quigley, proprietor of the cooperage shop, and Simon Leaman, a workman.

The injured are: Michael Mulcahy, probably fatally, and Daniel Meehan, slightly.

The building seemed to give way in the center and the whole south side was totally wrecked. The building had been shaking in the wind for some time and it is supposed the center of the roof gave way.

Meehan heard the cracking of the building in time to make his escape and he directed the rescuers to the place where the others had been at work when the crash came.

Mulcahy was the first one reached, his groans aiding the men in finding him. He was badly cut and bruised and unable to move, evidently being seriously injured internally. He became unconscious after being removed and the ambulance surgeon thought he could not possibly recover.

Quigley had been buried under many feet of bricks, plaster and heavy timbers. Death had evidently been due to internal injuries.

Leaman's body was all doubled up and badly crushed. He had evidently been killed instantly.

Collision Between Sleighs.

HAZLETON, Pa., Feb. 7.—Dr. John Fruit was probably fatally injured, Robert Evanson badly cut and bruised, and Mrs. William Kehoe suffered a broken leg last night in a collision between two sleighs on broad street.

Death of a Veteran Fire Chief.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Harry Howard, the veteran fire chief of the old volunteer fire department, is dead. He was born in this city in 1823, and, according to his own story, was abandoned by his parents after his birth.

LOCAL OPTION LOST.

The Harris Bill Defeated in the House.

FIFTY YEAS TO FIFTY-THREE NAYS

Action Taken on Several Other Measures in the House, but the Senate Devotes the Day to Discussion—A Schoolboy's Crazy Prank—Attempted Assassination—Other Happenings in the Buckeye State.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—The Harris bill, by which the Anti-Saloon league had hoped to carry local option on the subject of the liquor traffic to wards of cities and to counties, has been tenderly laid away for another two years. It was defeated in the house by a vote of 50 to 53.

There was a slim attendance of members in the house yesterday. Speaker Sleeper and Speaker pro tem. Bosler were tardy, and the clerk called the house to order. Mr. Dodge of Cuyahoga was elected speaker pro tem. No member of the Columbus clergy was present to offer prayer, and Rev. Ludwig, the member from Darke, was called upon.

Mr. Richardson of Hamilton offered a resolution empowering the committee on public works to employ a stenographer, so that the committee could proceed at once under Mr. Davis' resolution, with the investigation of the leasing of the Eggleston avenue property in Cincinnati to the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mr. Boxwell objected to the employment of a stenographer, on account of the expense.

The investigation will be held in the hall of the house of representatives, and will be open.

A resolution was introduced in the house to provide for the appointment of a commission to revise all the fish and game laws. It is proposed to prevent gillnet fishing in less than 50 feet of water, and to limit gillnets to lines of eight miles long. Song birds are to be thoroughly protected.

Senator Clark's bill increasing the maximum penalty for grand larceny from seven to 10 years, and increasing the penalty for petit larceny from 30 days in jail to one year's imprisonment, was defeated.

In the senate Mr. Moore's house bill to require all establishments, railroad cars, etc., selling or using oleomargarine to put up their signs telling the public of it, was passed. The bill amends the old law by striking out the word "knowingly" and now becomes a law.

Mr. Avery's bill to raise the age of consent for girls from 14 to 18 years was up and brought forth a long discussion, but finally postponed until next Tuesday.

Senator Clark's bill allowing widows custody of their children, where the father had named another person as guardian, was defeated.

RICKS' INVESTIGATION.

Labor Organizations in Ohio Trying to Reopen the Inquiry.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—District Assembly 47, Knights of Labor, has instructed its master workman to request Congressmen Burton and Beach to recall the Ricks investigation to the attention of congress. The investigation was made by a congressional committee a year ago on charges of improper use of funds by Judge A. J. Ricks of the United States court of northern Ohio.

A report was made at that time by the majority of the committee exonerating Judge Ricks and a minority report was prepared arriving at a different conclusion.

Every local assembly of the Knights of Labor in Ohio was also requested to take a similar action with regard to the congressmen in their districts. The object is to reopen the inquiry.

SCHOOLBOY'S CRAZY PRANK.

He Had the Cowboy Fever and Injured His Playmate.

ZANESVILLE, O., Feb. 7.—Herbert Crozier, aged 13 years, is confined to his home in this city unable to move his arm on account of the prank of his next door neighbor and playmate, Stanley French, of the same age.

Crozier was walking home from school when French struck him such a blow in the back with a pocketknife as to penetrate his garments and make a wound about an inch in length near the shoulder blade. The wound was so painful that the victim fainted and medical assistance was required. French gave as his excuse that he was just playing "Buffalo Bill." He had no grudge against Crozier and is apparently cured of his cowboy fever.

Four Shots Fired at Him.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Feb. 7.—Ira Lutz, brother of the representative from this district, was attacked at his gate Wednesday night by Mrs. Willard O. Whitten and James H. Gates. Four shots were fired at Lutz, but he got away unharmed. Two years ago Whitten instituted suit for $10,000 against Lutz for alienation of his wife's affections. The case was compromised, but bitter feeling survived. The assault Wednesday night was the result. Lutz is very rich. Warrants are out for Gates and Mrs. Whitten.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 7.—Captain Israel H. Washburn, retired, of the United States marine corps, is dead at the Army and Navy general hospital of chronic Bright's disease. Captain Washburn was the son of ex-Governor Washburn of Maine, one of the four famous Washburn brothers.

INDICATIONS—Fair weather, slightly cooler.

THE SCRAMBLE for the new issue of $100,000,000 worth of bonds demonstrates that there is a wonderful amount of gold stored away all over this country. The subscriptions amounted to $600,000,000 in round numbers. It also demonstrates that Uncle Sam can get along very nicely without the aid of Wall street.

SENATOR LINDSAY thinks the free silverites in Congress are not near as anxious to pass a free silver bill as they pretend to be. He told the Senators that they were never so eager for a silver bill as when they felt sure there was no danger of its passage. And he offered to produce the records to back him up. Why can't Congress quit its "monkey business," study these financial questions from a non-partisan view and try to adopt measures that will inure to the good of the people?

FIRE INSURANCE.

Comparison of Rates Charged at Augusta and Higginsport—Too High in Kentucky.

[Frankfort Correspondence Louisville Commercial.]

The question of fire insurance rates is exercising the business men of Kentucky. For two days past the first meeting of the Fire Insurance Relief Association has been in session here.

They claim that the rates in Kentucky are from 40 to 100 per cent. higher than in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. They make a comparison of rates in Augusta, Ky., and Higginsport, O., places directly across the river from one another. In Higginsport the rate on brick dwellings with metal roofs is thirty cents per $100, while in Augusta the rate is seventy-five cents. The rate on frame, shingle-roof dwellings is forty cents in Higginsport, and in Augusta it is $1.25. The Aetna Insurance Company has two policies on exactly similar property, that in Augusta being seventy-five cents, while in Higginsport it is only fifty cents. Many similar cases are presented.

The total losses in 1894 show a ratio of loss to the premiums paid in Kentucky of 60.9; in Ohio it is 63.1; in Indiana 61.3, in Illinois 57.8, in New York 55.2. Basing the estimate on the ratio of losses, the insurance premiums paid in Kentucky, amounting to $2,702,747, is about 40 per cent. too high; in other words the people of Kentucky have paid about $1,000,000 more than they ought to have paid. The Catlettsburg Chamber of Commerce has started the agitation for relief. It recently constructed water-works and got a reduction in rates, but pretty soon rates were advanced, until they are higher than ever. And now, while Augusta has water-works and Higginsport has none the insurance rates are higher in the Kentucky city than in the less protected city right across the river in Ohio.

A second meeting of the Relief Association will be held on February 13th at the House chamber at Frankfort. Mr. W. A. Patton, of Catlettsburg, has been elected the President of the association, and Mr. S. P. Shepperd, of Louisville, Secretary and Treasurer.

The writer of the above is mistaken in his statement that Augusta has water-works. She is on the same footing as Higginsport in that respect.

The engagement of Dr. Cleon C. Owens, of this city, and Miss Annamerman Van Slyke, of New York, is announced. The bride-elect belongs to one of New York's oldest and most prominent families. She has visited here on several occasions and made many warm friends who will be glad to welcome her to Maysville. The BULLETIN joins Dr. Owens' many friends in extending congratulations in advance of the happy event.

LIBRARIAN ELECTED.

Democrats Forced the Fighting and Won—Doings of the Kentucky Legislature.

The Democrats forced the election of a State Librarian at Thursday's joint session of the Legislature. When the vote in the Senatorial race was announced, Mr. Bronston arose and said: "I hope I shall not be misconstrued as meaning any discourtesy to the chair or its rulings when I move that this assembly now proceed to elect a State Librarian to fill the vacancy caused by a failure to elect in January."

Lieutenant Governor Worthington, after thanking Mr. Bronston for his kindly consideration, ruled the motion out of order.

Mr. Bronston appealed from the chair's ruling, and Mr. Worthington vacated the chair to Mr. Goebel while the vote on the appeal was taken. The appeal was sustained by a vote of 69 to 67.

Mr. Worthington then resumed the chair, and the vote for Librarian proceeded. Senator Nell withdrew Mrs. Shelton, and the Republicans, with few exceptions, refused to vote. Mr. Petrie, Republican, caused surprise by voting for Miss Guy, the Democratic nominee. Mr. Walton voted for Miss Wilson, and four Republican votes were cast for Mrs. Shelton. Miss Guy received 70 votes and was declared duly elected.

The joint ballot for Senator resulted: Hunter, 67; Blackburn, 62; Carlisle, 2; McCreary, 4; Bate, 1. Necessary to a choice, 69.

Lieutenant Governor Worthington yesterday obtained an indefinite leave of absence from the Senate on account of sickness in his family at home. A committee of Republicans waited on him and urged him not to leave, as his absence might have an important bearing on the Senatorial race.

The Governor has appointed Judge J. K. Dixon, of Paintsville, Keeper of the Arsenal. The position pays $800 a year. Dixon was recently appointed Judge Advocate General, but declined the appointment. The Governor sent to the Senate the appointments of Dr. McNary and Dr. Goslee to be Superintendent and Assistant respectively of Lakeland asylum. Both were confirmed.

In the House Thursday the committee on revenue and taxation reported a bill favorably providing for an additional levy on all taxable property in the State for three years to meet the State deficit.

The committee on legislative accounts originated a bill to appropriate $442 to reimburse W. G. Dunlap, contestee in the Dunlap-Kaufman contest case, for expenses in the contest.

A bill abolishing the jury wheel and to return to the old system of selecting jurors was also reported favorably.

A bill repealing the exemption law was reported unfavorably, but was ordered to a second ruling by a vote of 40 to 39.

Jack Hendrick.

Hon. W. J. Hendrick, ex-Attorney General of Kentucky, has been made attorney for the C. and O. railroad for the territory west of Washington, at an annual salary of $5,000. Commenting on this, the Carlisle Mercury says: "All of this goes to prove the statements made by General Hendricks before the election. At the celebrated Louisville Conference he was emphatic and earnest in his statement that he would be perfectly willing to be excused from the ticket. During our journey through Eastern Kentucky he said to us more than a dozen times that he wished he had never asked for the nomination, for he believed firmly he was going to be re-elected, which he knew was not best for him financially, but he was not inclined to embarrass his party by withdrawing under fire. W. J. Hendrick has more opportunities to make money than any middle-aged lawyer we know of. His knowledge of the geology and topography of Eastern Kentucky is worth a fortune to him, and he will not let it escape. Keep your eye on him."

The funeral of the late George W. Walz will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Services by Rev. I. P. Trotter.

HEALTH and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood, has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood, the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, healthy flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resting state.

THE electric street car craze is sweeping over this State, along with other evidences of enterprise, says the Louisville Post. Two or three projects are on foot, which mean that as many Kentucky towns are to take strides forward in the next year. Mr. Raper, of the Ellendale (Davies County) Fair, is now at work on plans for an electric line to connect Curdsville, in Davies County, with Henderson. A scheme is also being pushed along at Owensboro for building an electric line from that city to the county seat of McLean, Calhoun. Then Colonel A. J. Casey, editor of the Owensboro Inquirer, is using his best efforts to make a success of the proposed electric line between Hartford and Beaver Dam.

CITY COUNCIL.

Another Clash With the Mayor Over the Police Question.

Monthly Reports of the Municipal Officers—Permits Granted. Other Business.

The trouble between the Council and Mayor Cox over the police question was again in evidence at last night's meeting. All the members were present except Mr. Newell, who was kept at home by sickness.

After the minutes were read and approved, the Clerk read a communication from the Mayor, as follows:

I return herewith, without my approval, the resolution offered by Mr. Heiser and adopted in Council January 2nd, 1896, viz:

"That the present Deputy act as day policeman until the Chief of Police shall appoint a deputy and the Council approve the same." The reason for not approving the said resolution is that it conflicts with Sec. 4 of an ordinance adopted in Council December 14th, 1893, amending an ordinance made and approved December 6th, 1888, "to regulate the police force of the city of Maysville." Said section reads as follows:

"Said police force shall procure and wear while on duty the regulation blue uniform, and shall be assigned to duty by the Mayor of the city in the respective words, thereof, as the said Mayor shall from time to time determine."

It further interferes with the prescribed duties of the Mayor. Respectfully, January 9, 1896. WILLIAM H. COX, Mayor.

Mr. Heiser and others wanted to pass the resolution over the Mayor's veto, but they were not up in parliamentary law and didn't seem to know how to go at it. Mr. Heiser made several motions, but the Mayor ruled that they were not in proper form. He finally asked the Mayor to instruct him, but His Honor replied that that was not a part of his duties. The Mayor then told them to think over it, while he proceeded to read the monthly reports of city officials. Mr. Heiser objected to any business until the veto question was disposed of, but the Mayor proceeded with the reports. After they were read Mr. Stallcup moved that a committee be appointed to wait on the City Attorney and ascertain the proper manner of getting the matter before Council. The motion was adopted, Mr. Pearce casting the only dissenting vote. The Mayor appointed Mr. Pearce and Mr. Stallcup. Further business was then suspended until they reported. Mr. Chamberlain informed them that they were not in order, and to wait until Council reached the order of business under the head of motions and resolutions.

Council then resumed the regular order of business. When Mr. Heiser was reached in calling for motions, he moved that the vote adopting the vetoed resolution at last meeting be reconsidered. His motion was adopted and he then moved that said resolution be re-adopted notwithstanding the veto. The motion was adopted, and the matter now goes over till next meeting. The question arises, can the vote on a resolution that has been vetoed be re-considered?

The refusal of Council to pay Mr. Purnell, the special policeman appointed by the Mayor, will eventually bring the fight into the courts.

The Committee on Claims and Accounts reported they had examined the books of the Mayor, Chief of Police, Police Judge, Treasurer and Clerk, and found them correct. They recommended that the delinquent taxes be relisted with the Chief of Police for collection. The Committee also found that the Chief of Police has collected $1,153.85 delinquent taxes for years 1894-93-92-91-90, and that he was entitled to $175.68 commission. The report was adopted.

An account of $50 in favor of Frank Purnell for services as special policeman was presented. It had been approved by the Mayor and Chief of Police, but was recommended by only one member of the Committee on Claims and Accounts,—Mr. Pearce. He moved that it be allowed and Mr. Crowell seconded the motion. The motion was lost, Messrs. Pearce and Crowell being the only ones voting yea.

J. Hamilton's petition for permission to erect coal scales on Wall street was rejected.

The Clerk reported that he had procured twelve copies of the city charter for use of Councilmen.

G. G. Killpatrick was granted auctioneer's license.

City Attorney Chamberlain made report as to what amendments to the charter for fourth class cities had been agreed upon at the recent meeting of their representatives at Frankfort.

C. M. Phister was granted license to keep a wharfboat.

W. W. Watkins was granted "coffee house" license.

The bond of Mrs. Mary Heflin, as Superintendent of the City Alms House, with Dr. C. C. Owens, Robert Ficklin and John Hays as sureties, was presented and accepted.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the Mayor to appoint a Police Committee on the adoption of the resolution, and hereafter when the standing committees are named, said Police Committee to consist of one from each ward, to whom may be referred by Council, "for investigation, all matters concerning the police of the city that properly and lawfully come before said board for consideration." The Mayor appointed on said committee Messrs. Pearce, Frost, Blatterman, Crowell, Dressel and Smith.

The Mayor reported that the Adams Express Company and Western Union Telegraph Company had failed to take out license, as required by recent ordinance, and he was authorized to proceed against said companies.

The following permits were granted:

January & Wood Company; to erect a shed.

John I. Mathews; to erect a one-story frame cottage on Forest avenue, Sixth ward.

A. P. Stiles; to improve and add one story to his one-story residence on Second street, Sixth ward.

Oliver Greenlee; to erect a two-story frame dwelling on the south side of West Third street.

John Duley; to erect a one-story frame cottage on Cottage street, Sixth ward.

George M. Clinger; to erect a one-story frame cottage on Cottage street, Sixth ward.

L. M. Mills; to improve his two-story frame dwelling on East Third street.

The Mayor was authorized to furnish Policeman Rosser with a storm overcoat. Treasurer Fitzgerald was allowed his salary for collection of taxes.

Mr. Alton was granted six months time in which to move his dwelling back off of the street.

B. F. Clift, Frank Armstrong and John Armstrong were each refunded $1.50 poll tax paid in 1895. They had paid poll tax to the county for said year.

Complaint was made as to the condition of the sewer on Lower street, and the matter was referred to the Internal Improvement Committee, with power to act.

The question of erecting a gas lamp on Washington pike, near the old First district school, and at intersection of alleys between Bank and Commerce and Second and Front streets, Fifth ward, was referred to Committee on Gas, with power to act.

Mr. Stallcup wanted to know if the Committee on Internal Improvement had made a report as to the selection of a Street Commissioner. No such report had been made, and the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Crowell, said the committee was not required to make a report. Mr. Stallcup didn't agree with him and read the ordinance showing that the committee was required to report its selection of a Commissioner to Council, for Council's approval or rejection, and was also required to report what pay the Commissioner was to receive. Mr. Crowell and other members of the committee stated that it had not been customary to make such report, but the records showed that a report had been made a year ago. Mr. Stallcup finally moved that the committee be ordered to make report at next meeting of Council as to what action it had taken in the selection of a Commissioner. The motion was adopted.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian Church was, by a unanimous vote, refunded $6 license paid for two lectures recently delivered under the auspices of the society.

On motion of Mr. Blatterman it was ordered that the salary of the City Attorney be paid monthly hereafter instead of quarterly.

The question of rendering some assistance to Miss Nancy Wilson and Mrs. Hannah Bell was referred to the committee.

Council then adjourned.

Object to Postell.

At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Western lunatic asylum, held Wednesday evening, a resolution was passed protesting against the confirmation of the appointment of John Postell, the colored saloon keeper, as Steward of the asylum. The resolution was introduced by President Knight and carried by a vote of 6 to 1, five Democrats and one Republican supporting it and one Republican opposing it and one refusing to vote. A special committee will carry the protest to Frankfort and present it to the Senate.

WEDDED AT CINCINNATI.

Marriage of Mr. James H. Cummings, of This City, and Miss Anna Miller, of Millersburg.

[Enquirer.]

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the parlors at the Gibson House Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. James H. Cummings, a business man of Maysville, Ky., and Miss Anna G. Miller, the nineteen-year-old daughter of Mr. J. F. Miller, of Millersburg, Ky., one of the oldest families in that section of the country.

Miss Miller left her home Tuesday evening and stayed with her aunt in Covington until Wednesday afternoon, when the groom called for her in a white carriage drawn by two white horses. As the pair were driven from Covington to the Gibson House they were the cynosure of all eyes.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Magruder. The bride was attired in a traveling dress and looked charming. They left Wednesday night on a wedding tour before returning home.

Among those present at the wedding were: Mrs. J. H. Hall, Mrs. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nesbitt and Mr. R. T. Cummings, of Maysville; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Woollum and Mr. W. F. Miller, of Millersburg; Miss Roberts, of Cynthiana; Mrs. Johnson, of Covington; Messrs. A. R. Betts and C. A. Gordon, of Cincinnati.

A SPECIAL from Augusta says: "A novel suit is being tried before Judge Fields in the County Court at Brooksville. One day last summer, Miss Anna Hanson, a saleslady in the dry goods store of A. Berman, found a roll of bills lying on the floor in the store. She took it to her employer, who counted the money and found it to amount to $100. Upon examination Mr. Berman found that it did not belong to him. He requested her to leave the roll with him and if no one called for it within six months he would return it to her. She did so and a few days ago, no one having claimed the money, she requested him to comply with his promise. This he refused to do, saying the money having been lost in his store, he would be held responsible should the owner appear. Miss Hanson consulted an attorney and on his advice brought suit against Berman for the recovery of the money."

Fears Are Entertained That Much of This Will Go Toward Paying For the New Bonds—President Cleveland Interviewed on the New Bond Issue Popularity of the Latest Loan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The treasury yesterday lost $1,073,800 in gold coin and $10,400 in bars, leaving the true amount of the reserve $45,298,779. Notwithstanding the success of the new loans fears are entertained that a considerable share of the gold offered in payment will have been withdrawn from the treasury for that purpose. In anticipation of the loan the gold withdrawn from the treasury during the month, from Jan. 6 to Feb. 5, amounted to $7,349,545, which, added to yesterday's withdrawals, makes an aggregate of about $8,500,000.

The magnitude of the subscriptions to the loan which amounted to over $558,000,000 calls attention to the fact that the total amount of gold coin and gold certificates in circulation in the United States is less than $550,000,000 and the natural inference is that a great number of bidders must have depended upon getting their supply from the treasury or outside sources. What will be the result upon the reserve is a matter of grave concern and while it is expected that it will be augmented by at least $111,000,000 as a result of the present sale, it is not so apparent that on the date the last installment becomes due the reserve will not have been reduced to a point not greatly in excess of the $100,000,000 requirement.

CLEVELAND TALKS FINANCE.

An Interview With the President Regarding the Bond Issue.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The Evening Post publishes an interview with President Cleveland regarding the bond issue, in which he says:

"From such information as comes to me from various private sources I am convinced that the more small holdings of gold will be drawn into the treasury by the present arrangement than appear on the surface. The small country banks, for instance, which are buying bonds for their customers, have made their bids through their New York and Boston correspondents, and this gives the loan the appearance of having been taken up by the big financial institutions of the money centers, although as a matter of fact not a little of it will ultimately come from the small investors."

The subject of the syndicate contract of February, 1895, having been mentioned, Mr. Cleveland remarked that he had never had reason to question the wisdom of that arrangement under the conditions then existing. "That contract," he added, "helped us out at a time when 48 hours' delay might have produced serious results. I sympathize, nevertheless, with some of the objections made to that form of placing a loan. The difference between the price obtained from the syndicate and the price currently quoted can be twisted into an argument which will appeal to people who do not stop to calculate the actual cost of the syndicate of floating the loan at that time.

"My preference would have been to have the present loan much more popular than it appears on its face, but we have done the best we could. The people who hoard small savings of gold or the equivalents of gold are unaccustomed to transacting business on the basis on which these bonds had to be issued; they are unused to premiums or the formality of making bids. If we could have sold them 3 per cent gold bonds at par I think it would have brought out a good deal of this gold; but the only bonds the law allows us to issue have to be sold considerably above par in order to keep the net rate of interest within reasonable limits."

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

The Anti-Prize Fight Bill Passed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—One of the most interesting features of the senate's session yesterday was the presentation of the credentials of Senator-elect Foraker. Senator John Sherman was recognized early in the session and sent to the desk a handsome morocco case tied with a broad blue ribbon. It was presented to Vice President Stevenson, who opened and finding it the credentials of the election of Joseph Benson Foraker as senator from Ohio, to succeed Calvin S. Brice, gave it to the chief clerk, who read the papers. The credentials were handsomely engrossed in old English text on parchment. After the reading the parchment was put back in its case and sent out to the secretary's office to be filed away.

The Catron anti-prize fight bill was then passed. It will probably be sent to the president tomorrow and it is considered almost certain that it will be signed promptly by him, thus making it a law and operative immediately. With this law on the statute books the whole government authority, judicial and, if necessary, military, will be invoked to see that the prize fight is stopped.

The senate free coinage substitute for the house bond bill was debated five hours in the house yesterday afternoon and for three hours at the night session. Nevertheless the pressure of members for time to present their views is so great that it seems possible now that the debate may run over into next week.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Charles E. Allen, at one time a local preacher and now connected with the Hicks Realty and Improvement company of this city, was arrested yesterday and charged with bigamy. It is alleged that in 1892 he married Margaret J. Robinson in Cleveland and in 1895 married at Elyria, O., H. Louise Comstock, also of this city. He tried to obtain a divorce from his first wife but failed.

POMEROY, O., Feb. 7.—Coroner Scott has gone 16 miles into the country to exhume the body of Stephen Baremore, whose death was caused recently by croton oil being put in beer at the Pomeroy rolling mill. Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
